

National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) Things you should know 2 What should I know about plans?

You need a plan if you want funding (money) from the NDIS.

You will get help from a Planner to make your plan.

Your plan should be just about you.

You should say what you want in your plan.

You should say what you need.

The plan will talk about what you want to happen.

The plan will call this your goals and aspirations.

The plan will say how things will happen.

Like learning to cook before you move out of home.

It will talk about things you can buy.
Like equipment.

It will talk about how much money you can have to pay for people to help you. Like support workers.

Before you get your plan you should think about:

- things you want to try

- things you like doing and want to keep doing

- things you want to change.

Before you get your plan you should think about:

- what you want to learn

- where you want to live

- if you want a job or to volunteer.

Before you get your plan you should think about:

- how you want to get fit and healthy

- if you need help to look after the funding from the NDIS.

You can take someone with you when you make your plan.

Working out your plan will take time.
You will need to think.

You will also need to talk to people
you know.

You can start to think about what you want to happen in your life now!
